ST. HELENS, SEPTEMBER 16, 1892.

THE HIGHBINDER.

A dispatch of last Saturday from San Francisco reads as follows:

The Consolidated Benevolent Association of the Six Companies, a powerful Chinese organization better known as the Six Companies, which comprises all the wealthy merchants of the country, and which, together with the Chinese consular officers, regulates the affairs of the Chinese in this country, has issued a proclamation from its headquarters in this city forbidding Chinese in the United States to comply with the terms of the Geary bill requiring them to register, have themselves identified by two white witnesses, and be photographed before April, 1893. The proclamation states that the masters of the Six Companies, after a careful investigation, have found that the registration law is objectionable and detrimental to their interests. It continues:

"Our countrymen must live in these United States without being registered. Our countrymen must not get registered, and if one should do so on his own account he must not come to us in case he gets into trouble in this country. The Six Companies will pay no attention to him if he does. When a man registers he loses respectability in the eyes of his countrymen."

This applies to Chinamen living in any part of the country and in small towns, as well as large cities. If, by refusing to register, the man is arrested, imprisoned or punished, he can depend on the Six Companies for relief.

The proclamation states that the Chinese will be required to organize and subscribe money for the employment of legal aid, and if necessary enlist the services of the Chinese ambassadors to fight against this alleged injustice. Each Chinese resident of the United States is required to pay $1 to the Six Companies for the expense of the suit to test the legality of the registration law, and this money must be paid before the end of September. A Chinaman who does not pay will be prevented from returning to his own country when he applies for his pass. The proclamation concludes by saying: "The United States does not treat the Chinese right, because it compels no other nation to do such things, and no other nation in the world treats the Chinese as the United States does."

AGAIN we rise to remind the postal authorities of the negligence of the postal clerks on the Northern Pacific Sound extension. It is almost an everyday occurrence for the St. Helens mail, or a part of it at least, to be carried by and returned in one, two and some times three days later. This is only the case with the mail from Portland, and it suggests that either the clerks are inefficient or else there is not enough of them on the train to do the work. In either case something should be done.

THE PRIZEFIGHT CRAZE has again struck the country in dead earnest. At Astoria last Sunday one of the most brutal slogging matches took place ever recorded on the coast. Two young men, accompanied by a number of their friends, met on the premises of State Senator Trullinger and jumbled each other in a most horrible manner for thirteen rounds, at which time the referee called "time" and declared the fight a draw, both men having their eyes almost swollen shut. There seems to be no law in Astoria or else no one to execute it, and in consequence thereof humanity is neglected and allowed to degenerate to a point beneath that of the beasts of the forests.

THE CHOLERA.

EDITOR MIST:—At this time, when the whole country is excited over the probable advent of cholera, a few words about this disease would probably be of interest to readers of THE MIST. The history of an epidemic is invariably the same, starting from India, it spreads rapidly over the world, following like a wave in the wake of ships, or the marches of bodies of men.

The "germ" theory was started by Astier, perfected by Pasteur, and is accepted by all scientists of today. According to their view the yeast-plant is the cause of alcoholic fermentation. Its food is sugar, the products of its life action, alcohol and carbonic acid. Professor Koch, one of the most luminous writers on this theory, was sent, in 1883, to Egypt, and subsequently to India by the German government, to study this disease. He succeeded in discovering a parasite, which, when magnified many times, resembles a comma, and from this fact he called it the comma bacillus. This germ, acting in the intestine, produces a local irritation, as well as by fermentation producing certain poisons, which taken together, cause a series of symptoms we call cholera. It is conveyed from man to man, not through the means of the atmosphere, like scarlet fever, smallpox or diphtheria, and hence is not contagious, but principally by the contamination of the water supply like typhoid fever, and is therefore infectious. It cannot live in pure water and is destroyed by acids.

In India, where a tank of water supplies the people with a public bath, wash tub, cesspool, and drinking water, more favorable conditions for the propagation of the disease could not be imagined. The Europeans in India drink only pure water or water previously boiled, lemonade containing a few drops of sulphuric acid, and wear a belt of red flannel called the "cholera belt," which acts by protection. These precautions are usually sufficient to ward off the disease. It is to be hoped, however, that it will not gain a foothold in the country.

ASHORE IN A FOG.

The Whaleback Steamer, Wetmore, a Complete Wreck.

On September 9 the steamer Charles W. Wetmore, the first of the whaleback type, went ashore about 600 yards north of Coos bay bar during a dense fog at about 1 o'clock in the morning. Signals of distress soon brought the Coos bay life crew to the rescue of the steamer, who, after some difficulty, were taken off the ship. The ship's crew numbered 22 men, all told, the commander being Captain O'Brien, who took charge of the vessel last February. The ship is lying in 8 feet of water, and owing to the high sea running it is thought impossible to save any part of the cargo or effects. The cause of the disaster is said to be from a defective compass.

It will be remembered that the Wetmore narrowly escaped being wrecked just below the mouth of the Columbia last winter, and was picked up and towed in to Astoria by the Japan steamer Zambesi, for which suit was brought by the latter steamer to recover $250,000 as salvage. The Wetmore at that time was on her way to Everett, Wash., with a cargo of material for the shipyard at that place, and where she went from Astoria after making the necessary repairs. She later came back to the Columbia and up to Portland with a cargo of coal, at which place she was viewed with curiosity by hundreds, she being the first and only vessel of the kind that ever entered the river.

DELENA.

The people of Delena are preparing to give a grand musical and literary entertainment early in October for the benefit of the Columbia County World's Fair Club. The committee is arranging a programme in which many of the talented friends of the enterprise through the county will take part.

Miss Allie Matthews opened school in the Washburn district Monday, September 5, and is, according to the little ones, giving good satisfaction.

Professor and Mrs. Morris, of Portland, are visiting friends and relatives in the valley this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Atkins will start soon for California, intending to spend the winter sightseeing and having a general good time.

Wagner Bros. are cruising in the Lewis river country this week looking up a suitable body of cedar, intending, if successful, to move their shingle mill soon.

Miss Fannie Burk, who is in charge of the Delena school, intends observing Columbus Day in a becoming manner.

W. L. Snider, John Minter and Robert Johnson are putting in a shingle mill on the Atkins place.

YANKEETOWN.

Mr. Tarbell, who now owns the Massie place, states his intention of building a residence at once, that he may have his family there.

We understand that Mr. Leslie Bailey now has full control of the shingle mill, and intends starting up on Monday next, with the intention of making a good fall run.

We noticed the smiling faces of Mrs. H. O. Howard and her sister, Miss Hendricks, passing through our district last Friday. They were en route to the St. Helens dance, and were both becomingly dressed in white, with black sashes.

Mr. John Harris and family have just returned from visiting in the neighborhood of Scappoose, where they spent several pleasant days.

CLATSKANIE.

E. S. Bryant returned from Portland on Saturday, taking Walker's line from Mayger. He looked very hot and dusty when he arrived.

E. C. Blackford came in on the Dixon Tuesday evening, after an absence of three or four days.

G. W. Barnes spent Tuesday in town.

Open alliance meeting on Monday evening at Merrill's hall. Brother Darling addressed the assembly and was followed by Mr. Ewing, the county president, and others.

Arnold S. Graham and wife were in town Monday and remained for the alliance meeting. Arnold has not gone back on the alliance.

Samuel Graham, of Marshland, was on our streets Tuesday.

Some ladies of the broom brigade and others from this place, expect to take part Friday evening the 23rd, in an entertainment to be given at the school house near Meeser's on Upper Beaver. An exhibition drill, some wax figures and music are among the attractions. The entertainment is to be given in aid of Columbia county's exhibit at the world's fair, and all the people this side of Portland are invited.

Miller and Carter are adding a woodhouse to the school grounds this week. The carpenter work inside the school building is about complete as far as will be necessary to occupy two rooms needed this fall.

The Nehalem Journal contained last week a neat and worthy tribute to the ability of Professor T. J. Cleaton, as an instructor and congratulated the services of Cleaton on procuring his citizens to take charge of their schools during the winter. We heartily endorse the sentiments of the article, and refer your readers to the "Chief" for the article in full, at least those of them who did not read it in the Journal. By the way, the school directors inform us that school will not begin here before the last of this month, Professor Cleaton's present engagement not being ended until that time.

G. P. Hiatt is building a residence for Harvey Tingle on Lower Beaver.

Another interesting event on Lower Beaver happened recently, the west end of the bridge, where a young Mrs. Barnes was carefully taken care of by Grandin Jones and Mrs. D. J. Barnes.

Mrs. Barnes returned on Friday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Himpel. The operation on the eyelids bids fair to be quite a successful one.

Cholera in New York.

The cholera has at last gained a footing in this country. A dispatch from New York, dated Wednesday, states that notwithstanding the extraordinary precautions that have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease, five deaths have occurred during the last few days in that city from cholera. The authorities there seem paralyzed as to what course to pursue, in fact there seems to be very little for them to do only to accept the situation as it is, and continue their efforts toward quarantine rule and strictly enforce the sanitary laws.

The president has issued a proclamation prohibiting the landing of American soil of any vessel leaving Europe later than September 1. The proclamation is in effect until such time as the president sees fit to annul the same.

There has been a continued tendency to bowel disease here this season, says G. W. Shirell, druggist, Wickliffe, Ky., "and an unusual demand for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have sold four bottles of it this morning. Some remarkable cures have been effected by it and in all cases it has proved successful." For sale by Edwin Ross.

The Odd Fellows.

The Odd Fellows held their regular meeting in their hall on Saturday night last. Immediately after the regular routine business the doors were thrown open and visitors admitted to hear the address of Rev. A. B. Wade, on the theme of "Why I Am an Odd Fellow." The house was comfortably filled, and the members and their many friends present listened to a very able address on the above subject, lasting something over an hour, after which all went home seemingly convinced that the order is conducive of a great deal of good in a community. Brother Wade has a faculty of interesting his audience in a public lecture as well as in the pulpit. On behalf of the citizens of St. Helens, as well as the Odd Fellows lodge, we extend the hearty thanks of all to him for his efforts in our behalf, and hope he will favor us with another visit soon.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The pedagogy is abroad in the land and the hazel is ripe and ready for harvest. The directors of the Houlton school wish to employ the services of a good teacher.

October 21 is Columbus Day. Let every school in the country hold public exercises. The Youth's Companion publishes a very pretty and appropriate programme for the school on Columbus Day.

Young men, join the evening class and spend two hours in the realm of mathematics and science before retiring, and your rest will be sweet, and on waking in the morning you will be wise and happier.

Let the teachers from every school in the county furnish lively and "play" items for our literary column. This is your work, teachers.

The evening class is going to be a very pleasant one, and many young persons are becoming members. Some will study astronomy, some Latin and others mathematics.

A Lender.

Since its first introduction, Electric Bitters has gained rapidly in popular favor, until now it is clearly in the lead among pure medical tonics and alteratives—containing nothing which would injure a healthy or infirm person, and is the best and purest of all remedies for all ailments of stomach, liver and kidneys. It will cure sick headache, indigestion, constipation, and drive out of the system all the bad humors, and is sold with each bottle or the money will be refunded. Price only 50c per bottle. Sold by Edwin Ross.

RAINIER.

The Sunday school picnic here last week was a success, and was largely attended by young and old.

Rev. M. Moore, of Clatskanie, discoursed to an attentive audience last Sunday evening.

John Brain has been putting some finishing touches to his residence lately.

S. T. Grindle contemplates building a new house soon.

Mrs. Drow is having an addition put to her already commodious cottage.

Mr. J. Silver has had the interior of his house, entirely renovated, all of which goes to show that the spirit of improvement is abroad.

Marion Rings and wife have returned from their summer on Long Bay sea.

Most all the Portland people who have been spending the better term in our shady and pleasant village, have gone home well pleased with this place as a summer resort.

M. Pomeroy, of Salem, spent last Sunday with his family at this place.

Will and Frank Pomeroy have returned to their college studies at Corvallis.

Mr. Potter, of St. Helens, was in our town this week.

Mr. A. Kruse, nurse on the steamer Kellogg, has moved his family here, as the boat lays over night at this place owing to lack of water in the Cowlitz river.

Hop picking will soon be over, with a fair yield. This industry is a new one for our side of the river.

Things are looking rather gloomy here just now owing to smoke and fog that has settled over us.

F. C. Winchester has rented his place to Mr. Carlson of the saw and door factory and will make his home elsewhere.

Charles Perry has moved into rooms in the house of N. Johnson, being unable to obtain Blanchard's pile-driver is kept busy. Drivers are received faster than they can be delivered, from up and down the river.

The steamer Telephone took a number of witnesses from here last week to Portland in regard to the collision between that steamer and the Thompson.

The steamer Cascades left a large barge here last week which took 150 cords of dry wood from here to the Columbia.

The Pacific Fish company are just opening their warehouse here, preparatory for the season. M. Roth, the manager, is away now running a branch house in Astoria.

Judging from the amount of material used here and the constant shipping being done by the saw and door factory, we conclude they are doing a large work and a first-class work.

Additional Local.

The Houlton bridge is completed and open to the public.

Edward Henrici Sr. and Miss Bertha H. Henrici were married by Justice Blakesley yesterday. The parties are aged 79 and 44 respectively.

Ross T. Chamberlain, United States internal revenue inspector, of Portland, was in the city Wednesday.

Peter Hogren and Joseph W. Bonnell made final proof on their respective claims before the county clerk Wednesday.

W. B. Buell, of the Farmers and Merchants Insurance Company, of Albany, was in town this week looking after insurance matters.

R. W. Lowman's sawmill on the Clatskanie river was destroyed by fire on Friday morning. The fire originated in the slab pile, and the mill is a total loss.

Judge Ward, of Portland, will occupy W. J. Rice's office next week and attend to the practice while Mr. Rice is attending the superior court of Washington, at Kalama, where he has some important business.

The broadest smile (not a "Kentucky Smile") in town was noticed on County Clerk Quick yesterday morning. Why this smile? he answers shyly; well, just go up to his house and be introduced to his new daughter, who will probably explain matters.

We learn of the burning of the residence of Ed. Fowler at Neer City on Monday morning about 7 o'clock, the cause being unknown, only that it caught from the chimney. The house was valued at about $700, and was a total loss, including most of the contents.

It is not probable that the cholera will gain a foothold on the banks of Oregon rivers. At all events we must live and move much the same as ever. Mr. Dolman is making extra efforts to lay in fresh and sound groceries, carefully selected underwear. The best kind of footwear, dry goods, notions, hats and caps, and at bargainable prices.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason, of Clifton, Carter county, Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This medicine can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases, both for children and adults. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Edwin Ross, druggist.

The school board have caused to be erected, at the solicitation of Professor Looney, a standard gauge sidewalk leading from the schoolhouse about 100 feet to the east and then crossing the street, connecting with the walk on the opposite side. They will also build a shed or awning in front of the house, covering the walk, so that the pupils may form outside before marching into the schoolroom.

NOTICE.

To the Teachers and Friends of Education: Through the kindness of the editor of THE MIST we have a column each week given to literary and school news.

We want every school in the county to take part in this work, and it shall be your work and your department. We have agreed to supervise this column. Send us news. Yours respectfully, J. P. LOONEY.
